I cannot permit myself to be mentioned as a son of one of the earliest citizens of Chicago, without calling to your attention that there are others more worthy of that appellation. There are many here, and we have tried to have represented here the old families. There are descendants of the Ryerson family, the Ogden family, the Goodrich family, the Mason family. I see a descendant of the Stephen F. Gale, who came here in 1831. I cannot name them all or I should take up too much time. I must not be classed with the really old families - my father did not come here until 1837. We have here, also, or we were to have had, the daughter of Shadrach Bond, the first Governor of Illinois, in 1818 - and that...
